TO MY BROTHERS AND SISTERS

There is an old saying "talk is cheap." We have reached a point where talk is very cheap and work is a rare commodity. The preparation of this BEAR took long hard hours of some "young gifted and black students who were willing to sacrifice.

Doing our own thing is neither novel nor adequate; awareness is meaningless and involvement just another word. How well we record our moment in history, how well we state our commitment, how well we define our goals is our opportunity and our challenge.

To be young, gifted, and black must be changed to read "YOUNG, GIFTED, BLACK AND PREPARED.

Faith in God and my people

Since its inception in 1865, Shaw University has associated itself with the Raleigh Black Community. Shaw feels that it is vital for an urban school to provide its services to the community. A school such as ours cannot maintain its standards of excellence in education without community support.

The community's true dedication to Shaw University was exemplified in the early 1960's. When the surrounding area was called on for moral and financial assistance, readily responded and today we acknowledge this sacrifice with accolades of true Black love for the Raleigh Black community.

Shaw University has tried to maintain a constant link with the community.

The Shaw University Band and University Chorale have established an important and vital rapport with the community. The Shaw Players and Company never fail to invite persons from the community to its shows. The Social Fellowships and Greek Letter organizations involve the young in their projects. This is not done out of pity and sacrifice, but out of respect and gratitude. This appreciation has encouraged us, The Shaw University Yearbook Staff, to dedicate the '73 Bear to the Black Community.

This is a small thank you for an enormous gift. We truly believe that the Raleigh Black Community has helped us to attain our new perspective: To Be Young, Gifted and Black.

POOR, BLACK and DISADVANTAGED, NO!
YOUNG, GIFTED and BLACK, YES!!!

Stigmas usually follow people throughout their lives if they are not careful.
The Shaw University Bear is also helping in the cancellation of old Shaw University stigma.

i am poor, black and disadvantaged

i am poor. i was uprooted from the ghetto. i came here because any place was better than the streets. they picked me off the streets. the agonizing pains of poverty caress my very soul. i have no choice. i am poor, i will sell my very soul for a better life. poverty has drained me of ambition. i will always remain poor. WHY?

i am poor, black and disadvantaged

i am black, sandwiched between poor and disadvantaged has robbed me of pride. i am becoming NEGRO. black — to me — is a symbolic representation of apathy. i cannot help myself. i am the darker brother. i grow weak from my own oppression.

i am poor, black and disadvantaged

i am disadvantaged. i no longer have a place i am worldliness. i have no right to sit in the seat of comfort and pride. my life strings are pulled by someone who "related" to me in such a way that "relation" is tokenism. there is no hope for me. i am fading into nothing.

i am poor, black and disadvantaged
NO!

I AM YOUNG, GIFTED AND BLACK

I AM YOUNG. I THRIVE ON THE CONCEIVING AND IMPLEMENTING OF YOUNG IDEAS. YOUNG IS A STATE OF BEING THAT EXISTS ON THE NEW, THE BETTER, AND THE FRESH IDEALS OF AN OLD OUTDATED SYSTEM. I MEET THE OLD WITH OUTRAGE. IT IS A NEW DAY AND WORLD AND I KNOW MY RIGHTFUL PLACE NOW. I CANNOT BE PUSHED BACK. I AM A PART. I WILL TAKE PART AND ANYTHING ELSE I FEEL I DESERVE. I AM REACHING NEWER AND HIGHER HEIGHTS.

I AM YOUNG, GIFTED AND BLACK

I AM GIFTED. I HAVE A RIGHTFUL PLACE AT THE TOP. I AM AT THE TOP. I CATER ONLY TO MY OWN SUPERIORITY. I NO LONGER HAVE OBSTACLES AND BARRIERS WITH WHICH TO ASSOCIATE MYSELF. I DESTROY AND CREATE. I AM THE BETTER BROTHER.

I AM YOUNG, GIFTED AND BLACK

I AM BLACK. I REPRESENT ALL THAT IS BLACKNESS. I CAN HELP MYSELF — AND OTHERS. I BELONG. MY FUTURE IS VITAL FOR THE SURVIVAL OF A WORLD: THIS WORLD. I REPRESENT THE MOTHER COUNTRY: AFRICA. I AM TRUE TO MY OWN BLACK CONVICTIONS. TOGETHERNESS. BROTHERHOOD. POWER. SUPERIORITY. SYNONOMOUS OF A PROUD PEOPLE.

I AM YOUNG, GIFTED AND BLACK

The innoble demise of the poor, the black, and the disadvantaged has created and opened up new avenues for the Shaw University Family. Unity has cancelled the apathetic revolution of the poor, the black and the disadvantaged. There is a new revolution involving the body — YOUNG, the mind — GIFTED, and the soul — BLACK. We have come through and have been a distinctive part of a history with pride and dignity. We will remain that way because YOUNG, GIFTED and BLACK IS REAL.

General James Burns

TO THE CLASS OF 1973:

We have mutually reinforced each other in that our questions have been right questions as we sought together to create an adequate vehicle for the educational enterprise.

In our years together, it is true that we were constrained by the lack of sufficient funding. At no time, though, was there a lack of ideas, the willingness to take responsibility, and the ability to move ahead with what we had to do. We tackled problems, shared experiences, and attempted to create a stronger structure for those coming after us. It is my hope that by our mutual efforts history will report that we established a firm footing from which our successors were able to soar.

My wife and daughter join me in sending each of you the warmest of personal greetings and in affirming the hope that you may find deep personal satisfaction and great success in your chosen vocation.

Sincerely yours,

J. Archie Hargraves

Cannon Ball Adderly raps with Prexy

FOR MY PEOPLE
Margaret Walker

For my people everywhere singing their slave songs repeatedly; their dirges and their ditties and their blues jubilees, praying their prayers nightly to an unknown god, bending their knees humbly to an unknown power;

For the cramped bewildered years we went to school to learn to know the reasons why and the answers to and the people who and the places where and the days when, in memory of the bitter hours when we discovered we were black and poor and small and different and nobody cared and nobody wondered and nobody understood;

For my people walking blindly spreading joy, losing time being lazy, sleeping when hungry, shouting when burdened, drinking when hopeless, tied and shackled and tangled among ourselves by the unseen creatures who tower over us omnisciently and laugh;

For my people standing trying to fashion a better way from confusion, from hypocrisy and misunderstanding, trying to fashion a world that will hold all the people.

Let a new earth rise. Let another world be born.

Let a bloody peace be written in the sky.

Let a second generation full of courage issue forth.

Let a loving freedom come to growth.

Let a beauty full of healing and strength of final clenching be the pulsing in our spirits and our blood.

Let the martial songs be written, let the dirges disappear.

Let a race of men now rise and take control.

We are searching trying to discover the self that hides behind a web of attitudes
— patternless clothed by a confused mind that changes with the bypassing the tocks

of quick fingerpops

We are searching
trying to recover yesterday purity trying to find beauty
in a world where there are no flowers where there are no trees and the only fragrance comes from a stopped-up toilet bowl where you attempt to rid your self of your inner filth
but it never leaves
it can't be flushed until you have finished searching until you have learned to plant seeds
and grow
and see the beauty and fill the beauty

we are searching searching for an inner peace that will fight off all thoughts of destruction
we are searching for ourselves
we are searching for our black selves
so that we will know the taste
the smell
the appearance
the sound . . .
of our own black beauty.

How Many More Homecomings for Estey Hall?

A PHENOMENON — ESTEY

We gather here together not to moan, but to pay joyful homage to a "soldierist" of education.

Her children have been many; they range from the highest of earthly intellect down to the lowliest of earthly creatures. Oh yes, that is, from the scholarly student who persevered and burned her midnight lamps, to the shelter-seeking rats to whom she opened her floors and walls.

Wise, yes, for all of the thousands of books carried over her thresholds always became a part of her absorbing but silent walls. Her shelves have been a host for the most neglected academic books, and yet she yielded willingly to the liberal readings of the undisciplined minds.

Although more than a century old, her once bright, hand-made bricks now "burgandied" from age remain as a beacon of shelter to the homeless. She was evacuated years ago, but she still accomodates a house full. Birds use her port holes as resting places. Of course, furry creatures have discovered her hospitality to be welcoming. She has even stretched her arms out the algae and other green plants that decorated her once illuminated eyes.

Rhythmically, her walls trembled and her floors creaked as a result of the pounding and slashing of hard winter-storm nights, but not once, not once, did she surrender her namesake.

Truly, she is a bulwark of endurance; fire has threatened her existence, the elements have distorted her facade and even society has finally conferred upon her the degree of condemnation — and yet, she remains upright!

She has been a friend to the friendless, and her walls have kept the many secrets of time. She has watched her children grow; that's right, she has been a mother, and among other things, she has been an extraordinary actress. She has played many roles in the academic theater — from dormitory, both male and female, to classroom building. Just yesterday she held the leading role as survivor of the century. Without competition she held best supporting actress of campus shrines. She has played them all well.

Estey, your sons and daughters will always admire you. You have served an infinite purpose, and although we "befell" you today and preserve the last of your remains — your spirit dwells on as a symbol of evolution to humanity. You have served as artillery for the struggle of Black education.

We the offsprings of your many achievements salute you Estey, for you are truly a phenomenon of education. May you rest deservedly, you have served Shaw University more than well!

The origin of Shaw University reflects nineteenth century trends in philanthropic humanitarian movements, in Negro higher education, and in post-Civil War race relations. The school developed from a class of six deacons and ministers gathered to learn to read and interpret the scriptures to a collegiate institute in 1870, and "The Shaw University" in 1875. Its name stems from its principal original benefactor, rather than its founder. Included were professional schools training in theology, medicine, pharmacy, law, etc.

Construction of a two-story edifice that served as church and school from 1866 to 1870; seven years of lawsuits that threatened the existence of the Second Baptist Church (Tupper Memorial) and Tupper's school; erection of Estey Seminary in 1873 for the education of females are but a few of the factors that started Shaw University on its renowned course. The natural history of "Shaw's Universe" reflects trends in higher education spanning a century, as well as the ideas, ideologies, and personal involvements of nine presidents during a 107 year period. While only two presidents served during the first half of that period there have been seven during the latter half of the period — only one of whom was white.

Mirrored in the development of Shaw University is the history of race relations in the South, of partisan politics in the capitol of North Carolina, of conflicts among local Baptists, of interinstitutional rivalries, and interpersonal confrontations. The historical record of the university reveals the existence of educational innovation from its inception. Original innovations included the opening of the university to women, offering the first four-year medical program in the nation, and figuring in the founding of five other colleges-universities in North Carolina. Protest became an accepted actuality at Shaw long before it was recognized as being popularly innovative.

The charter of the institution disavows lines of race, sex, and religion. The religious affiliation of the school evolved from its practical support, and not the incidence of its founding. Students continue to come from many foreign countries. Since "weighing, not counting" students guided the educational philosophy of the institution, the university imposed strict scholarship regulations on its students until a type of "education in reverse" ushered in a modern era of reconstruction.

When reconstruction and renaissance beset the university at the end of its first century of existence, the new academic programs, operating systems, educational proclamations, and charismatic leaders replicated earlier beginnings. Variations in styles of administration led to variations in educational emphases, internal restructuring, and external relations. Viewing these factors across the decade of reconstruction leads to the unveiling of a portrait in which the "remaking of the college" symbolized forms of expansion, support, and renown inherent in which were the seeds of the institutional dissonance of ensuing years.

Among the interesting incidental developments woven into the university's history are burial of Tupper in the middle of the campus, election of a "black man" as acting president for four months after Tupper's demise; election of the first full-time Negro-American president in 1931; election of the first graduate as president in 1963; and election of the first person to succeed an older brother as president in 1969.

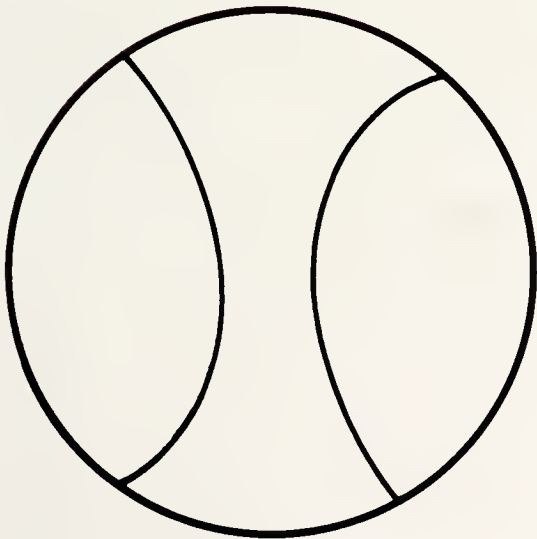

From its inception innovation has been the motivating force in the university's establishment and development. Starting with a class in theology at a time of extensive resentment toward teaching freedmen was daringly innovative. Hiding from klansmen and erecting a church-school edifice for instruction of freedmen in the face of adversity sustained the innovative efforts of the founder. Finding funds to continue operation after philanthropic organizations cut off funds to the institution when the first "black" president was appointed prompted the devising of other innovative techniques. Deciding to employ one of the institution's young graduates as the president opened the door to more extensive innovation in every phase of the university. These and other developments explain why "Shaw's Universe" stands as a monument to educational innovation.

THE ALMA MATER

*Hail, Dear Old Shaw U
Thy sons revere thy name,
Long shall thy works be proud Undimmed thy fame.
Time shall thy praises sing,
Glory repay thy tears,
And loud thy praises ring
Through all the years.*

*Noble thy hallways,
Noble thy grassy plains,
Nobler the hearts of men
Where thou dost reign.
All we who love thy name
Stout hearts that shall not fail,
All rise and loud proclaim,
Alma Mater, Hail!*
